Water Commissioners' Report.

We have given our water system a severe test, as we have been through three or four years of as dry seasons as we have ever had, and had plenty of water for all purposes.

Our water system with all additions and extensions, to the present date, cost the town in round figures sixteen thousand dollars. At the present, it is paying six hundred and forty dollars per year in cash rentals or four per cent. on the total investment. Besides giving the town fourteen hydrants, three watering troughs, one fountain, water at the school house and town house and library free, which figured at the rate we would have to pay a private company, three hundred and twenty dollars, would make six per cent. the town is getting on their investment, and we see no reason why it will not continue to do so, or even better as our rentals have kept gaining every year.

This shows our system to be a good paying investment, and as soon as the money borrowed on notes is paid, it will be putting a good round sum in the town treasury yearly.

During the year we put in one new connection and repaired two breaks in the water main and the expense was as follows:—

Repairing break in water main, near

REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD.

TO THE CITIZENS OF HANCOCK:—

We are pleased to report, on the whole, a fairly successful year in the administration of our school system. We were unfortunate in the resignation of the senior member of the Board, Mr. W. M. Davis, in October. The Board appointed Mr. Albert S. Moore, who has had a long experience in school matters, to fill out the unexpired term. Mr. Moore qualified for the office December 1, 1913.

Superintendent.

The report of our superintendent follows. We feel encouraged for the progress of our schools under the supervision of so able and efficient a superintendent as Mr. Rich has proven himself to be. This town's share of the expense for this fiscal year is $162.

Teachers.

With the exception of the teacher of the Fall term in the Grammar school, the teachers of the various schools have given satisfaction and have done efficient progressive work. It is to be desired that all our teachers should either have received training in Normal schools or through self-preparation have taken the examinations for a permanent New Hampshire Teacher's certificate.

Closing Schools.

Only a few pupils remaining in district No. 8, and most of those being comparatively near the village, the Board discontinued that school with decided advantage to the pupils and with a substantial saving of the school money.

At No. 9, through removal, the pupils were reduced to three, and the Board voted to discontinue the school and transport the pupils elsewhere. But because of the earnest protest of the two families concerned, and under advice from the State superintendent of Instruction, the Board rescinded its action and continued the school through the winter. While this brings the per capita cost per pupil extremely high, and the three children are not receiving the advantage they could have in a larger school with an experienced teacher, it seemed the best thing to do for the winter. It is hoped different arrangements can be made for the warm months.

Recess Periods.

One of the weak points in our school system has been the lack of oversight during the noon and recess periods, especially at the village school. The result was, not only a rude boisterousness of conduct, but an occasional mischief of low disgraceful character occurred, which seemed to more than destroy the culture gained in the study hours. In consultation with the superintendent, a re-arrangement of the time schedule at the village school was made so one of the teachers shall be present and have oversight during the noon hour and all recess periods. This has already shown favorable results in the general bearing of the pupils.

Heating Apparatus

The Superentendents report contains a recommendation for improving the heating of our outside schools. This winter has emphasized a new the need of an improved heating plant for the Village school.

High School

The citizens of the town are to be congratulated that this year sees the establishment of a High School by the Hancock Educational Association. Next year, with two classes, in the High School and possibly an assistant High School teacher, Hancock will have a nearly complete educational system.

It remains for those in authority to strive to make our educational system practical and successful. We should especially emphasize the development of character as superior even to the acquiring of knowledge. And with all else, trying so adjust the teaching that our children will be trained to practical life; fitted, not for some theoretical student or city career; but fitted to make good homes, live useful lives, and develop the resources of the good home town of Hancock. In striving for these results we ask the hearty good will and co-operation of all our citizens.

Budget for 1914—1915.

Amounts required by law to be assessed by the selectmen.

REPORT OF SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF THE TOWN OF HANCOCK:

The following report of my work as superintendent of schools takes up a number of matters connected with the new outline, the scholastic work of the schools, the equipment, teachers' meetings and other helps, the registration bureau, the parents' association, teachers' reports regarding attendance, janitor service, etc. It also includes a brief report of the supervisor of music.

OUTLINE OF WORK

Among the recommendations of last year we mentioned the need of an outline of work which would make it possible for each pupil even in the mixed schools to pursue a steady, progressive course from year to year, and yet enable the teacher to combine classes so as to make five, instead of eight, the maximum number of divisions in any school. Such a schedule has now been prepared, printed and placed in the schools as a working schedule. Copies will be furnished to parents who are interested. This pamphlet lists all the books and topics to be covered in a given period. It provides against the omission of important material or the needless repetition of books or subjects already mastered, regardless of changes in schools or teachers. When marked by the instructor it becomes a report showing where each class stands in the course and what remains to be done. Such reports are sent in by all the teachers from time to time, showing definitely what each school is doing, and making possible much closer supervision than when there is only the personal visit of the superintendent to go by. The writer believes this work to be of real importance, as it puts the work of the schools for the first time upon an orderly and systematic basis.

EQUIPMENT

To provide an equipment of books reasonably complete, a good deal of new material had to be purchased this year. Most of the purchases have been to fill out our stock of titles already in use. A few new kinds have been added—the Stone-Millis arithmetics, the Aldine language books, and a number of supplementary readers. All these have proved unusually interesting and have done a good deal to brighten up the work in these subjects.

With the installation of screens or jackets for stoves, a sanitary seat with spring hinge for boy's closets, sanitary cans (ordinary milk cans) for drinking water, tea kettles to warm water for washing and to moisten the air of schoolrooms, an additional supply of wall maps, and a little more blackboard, we shall have in our rural buildings practically everything recommended by the State Department in the "Suggested Minimum Schoolroom Equipment for Elementary Schools."

Considerable has been done and is being done by teachers and pupils in the way of rebinding and repairing books. All books are given a coat of spar varnish on the outside, which makes them germ and water proof, and saves a large part of the wear. There is no doubt but that half the money expended for text books and supplies is wasted where the books are allowed to fall to pieces for lack of a little attention. Lessons in rebinding books is good economy, good manual training and good citizenship.

Supplies for the year have been bought in quantity with three other towns, from E. E. Babb and Co., the lowest of several bidders.

SCHOLASTIC WORK

English still continues to be emphasized as the most important subject of the grammar schools. Some progress is being made in giving our pupils a clear correct style in oral and written language, but much remains to be accomplished to bring our pupils up to the standards of style and technic that are found in the best schools elsewhere.

The writing in all schools but one is below the average. In one of the others much good work has been done on the Palmer method but as yet the habits of position, speed, slant, etc., have not become automatic. In all schools a fair standard in the regular work is insisted upon, but it requires ceaseless vigilance to break up the careless, scrawly writing that a large proportion of our pupils have fallen into.

As a whole, creditable work has been done in reading, phonic, memory work, technical language and abstract arithmetic.

TEACHERS' MEETINGS AND HELPS

During the summer vacation a two weeks' meeting for teachers was held in Marlboro. Of the 49 teachers in attendance, 5 were from Hancock. The subjects of the morning sessions were "History of Education," "Psychology," "School Management," "Primary Arithmetic," "Reading," "Cultural English," "Technical English," "Seat Work," and "Science." Afternoon sessions included daily practice in sight singing and drawing and in the evening a course in music appreciation and a number of entertainments were provided.

No other meetings have been held this year, except those conducted by the State Department. Several meetings are scheduled for the spring term with the following topics:

Taylor's principles of scientific management and their schoolroom application.

VIZUAL MATHEMATICS

New light on the psychology of interest, with devices.

Teaching how to study, with seat work devices for grammar grades.

With a view to stimulating interest in neighboring schools and in the good ideas of other teachers, the writer has collected samples of pupils' work and passed them on to other places. Teachers are thus able to keep in touch with each other and to judge their own work by others' standards.

A TEACHERS' REGISTRATION BUREAU

One of the most important parts of a superintendent's work is to be able to advise in regard to the employment of new teachers. Ordinarily, where salaries are low, the superintendent is forced to choose from among his own acquaintances and the few candidates who happen to apply, or else call upon the teachers' agencies to furnish applicants whose records they have investigated. If he depends wholly upon his own lists, he is forced to accept a good many who are incompetent. If agencies are consulted, salaries are reduced 5 per cent, the regular commissions of the agencies. Whether this charge appears on the records as one of the town's expenses, or is paid by the teacher out of her own salary, in the end it is the town that must bear the burden, for it must offer the agency applicants enough to cover both the salary and the commission.

The writer has attempted to remedy the situation to some extent by establishing a bureau, supported by a number of towns, where applications are received and the qualifications of candidates investigated. The information is kept on file for the use of anybody who may have a vacancy. In this way the work of the agencies is accomplished with very little expense. The plan makes it easier for teachers to find places, and it enables committees to select the best candidates available at the salaries they can pay. Twenty-two towns have united with this one. One hundred and twenty-five teachers have been registered. Four high school and twenty-five grade teachers have been given places, and the entire expense has been less than an agency's commission on one of the high school positions.

AN EXCHANGE

In educational circles a good deal has been said recently about "surveys" or investigations of a city's school system by a corps of outside experts who study the various schools in detail with a view to measuring, and without bias, rating their actual efficiency. Something of the advantages of a survey might be secured by two superintendents' changing towns and each making reports on conditions as he finds them in his neighbor's territory. At least the scheme would afford an interesting glimpse at the situation from another's standpoint. Plans are under way in this town for such an exchange for a short time with a neighboring superintendent.

A PARENT'S ASSOCIATION

Whatever the system and methods in vogue, and whoever is chosen to administer them, the final burden of responsibility rests with the citizens. The schools will be about as good as the people demand, or about as poor as the people will tolerate. Officials, teachers and pupils must feel that fine work is understood and appreciated and that poor work is recognized and meets with disfavor if all are to be kept up to a maximum of efficiency. Mere faultfinding does not accomplish much, especially the kind that springs from personal dislike, natural suspicion or poor digestion. But a constructive interest that is willing to spend a little time in studying educational matters, to learn what can be done, and what ought to be done, and to lend support to the wisest and best means of improvement can accomplish more than any other factor in school administration.

With the hope of interesting parents and others in an organization for the study and improvement of the schools, I have sent circulars to a number of the citizens describing the purpose of such an association and inviting their cooperation. "School improvement" or "parent teachers' societies, meeting once a term or oftener, to hear speakers and discuss educational topics, have been of great interest and service in other parts of the State, and are likely to accomplish as much here. Considerable outside talent is available for such meetings. There are always local topics to come in for attention. If the gatherings did no more than bring teachers and parents together for a few minutes' discussion of their common problem, the work would be worth the effort. As fast as there seems to be interest enough manifested in the various neighborhoods, meetings will be scheduled and societies organized.

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF MUSIC

TO THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

SIR:—The course of music instruction as followed out during the year includes the following:

New Educational Introductory Music Chart

Individual Sight-Singing Method, first and second series, by

Sterrie A. Weaver

Jousse's Musical Catechism
 Baltzell's Dictionary of Musicians
 New Educational Music Course, first and second readers.

Drills are used and in the primary school, finger plays and motion songs.

It has been my aim to make good readers and to obtain good tone production. In both these I have noticed a marked improvement, especially in the 5th and 6th grades.

Respectfully submitted,

ANNIE LINDSAY PUTNAM Supervisor.
